HE GOT NO STOCK.

Investigation of Russell Harrison's Alleged Acceptance of Shares for His Influence.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—President Oakes of the Northern Pacific railroad testified today before the House Public Lands committee investigating measures of the Yellowstone Park association. His testimony was in regard to his knowledge of the issue of stock amounting to $3,000, which it is alleged was set apart for Russell Harrison. He stated that Waters came to Washington to assist in getting the case. He, however, expressed a doubt as to getting access to the interior department, but was certain this could be secured through Russell Harrison, whom he (Waters) knew, and in compensation for this Harrison was to have some stock in the company set aside for him. Oakes said he was confident that Harrison was ignorant of the fact that any stock had been set aside for him. The certificates for Harrison were prepared but not issued, on the ground that the shares were obtained without difficulty.

TWO TORNADOES.

People Flock to Their Caves and Save Their Lives.

WICHITA, Kan., May 13.—The formation of two tornadoes was witnessed here about 6 o'clock this evening—two about six miles south and another about the same distance northeast. A dispatch from Augusta, Butler county, says the northwestern "twister" struck there about 6 o'clock, demolishing fifteen houses and wrecking the Santa Fe stock pens.

W. L. Ellsworth had a leg broken and Frank Marsh was slightly injured. Nearly all the people in town saw the storm approaching and sought safety in cyclone caves, which it is thought prevented a great loss of life. Houses, barns, wires and down and fences are unobtainable.

Towards a few miles north of Augusta, a cyclone in March and a number of people were killed and injured. The citizens who had the courage to remain rebuilt the houses and their buildings were blown down this evening. It is not known whether anyone was hurt. Inquiries at several points south of Wichita fail to reveal the track taken by other two storms.

DEEP WATER CONVENTION.

Report of the Committee on Resolutions—Government Aid Wanted.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 13.—A new era of improvements in the Mississippi river has come in by the birth of the Mississippi River Improvement association, a permanent organization composed of the most prominent engineers and capitalists of the Mississippi valley and whose object is to cooperate with the National Mississippi River Construction association, and urge upon Congress the necessity of carrying out promptly the recommendations of that body. The intention is that the improvement and perpetuation of this great American waterway be no longer left to the world of local agitation or the irresponsibility of sectional demands. The idea in substance is that no improvement be pressed before Congress until it has the guarantee of scientific examination and approval by this organization.

As outlined in the proceedings of today only those appropriations will be recommended such as designed for the common weal and improvement of the Mississippi river and its tributaries as one great majority whole.

Officers Elected.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 14.—The Mississippi Valley deep water convention met again this morning. The committee on resolutions reported that it is the duty of the United States to provide adequate, continuous appropriations for the improvement of the Mississippi river and its navigable tributaries, so as to secure safe, free navigation of these rivers, in order to protect the commerce of the great river, by competition with the trunk lines to the seaboard. The government should also aid the construction and the maintenance of the river, and the improvement that the latter should be improved for ocean shipping, so as far as possible, caused dissent, as being a step too far.

After a protracted debate Judge Latham offered a substitute for Gates' amendment. It petitions the United States government to provide adequate and continuous appropriations for the improvement of the Mississippi river and its principal tributaries, so as to secure safe and free navigation of these rivers and deep water navigation in the Mississippi river, the most efficient extent practicable. This was accepted by both sides to the controversy and unanimously adopted.

At the conclusion of the discussion the chairman announced the following executive committee to organize a permanent Mississippi River Improvement association, to be organized at the meeting of Colonel Cooper, Judge T. J. Latham, chairman; W. P. Halliday, Illinois; John T. Horner, Arkansas; D. A. Scott, Mississippi; Zach Taylor, W. J. Crawford, Colonel Robert Gates and Colonel A. D. Gwynne of Tennessee. The convention then adjourned sine die.

A CONVICT'S VENGEANCE.

He Abducts a Young Girl and is Killed by Her Brother.

WARRICK, Pa., May 13.—Late last night Lloyd Raver, the fourteen-year-old son of Robert Raver of Garfield, shot and killed Charlie Herrington, an ex-convict. Six years ago Herrington abducted the thirteen-year-old sister of young Raver and induced her to live with him. Herrington was arrested and sent to prison for four years. When his term expired he returned to his home and threatened to kill the girl if she did not go with him. He was arrested again and sent to the penitentiary for fifteen months. He was released, and when released a few days ago went to Garfield, and last night called at the Ravers house and demanded to see the girl. The door was closed upon him and he proceeded to break it down, when young Raver took a rifle and shot him, the bullet entering his brain. Raver gave himself up, but the coroner's jury brought in a verdict of self defense.

CAPTURE OF A MURDERER.

Description of His Devilish Deed—He Escapes Lynching.

CONRING, Iowa, May 13.—James Dooley, who sensibly murdered Mrs. Coon and her ten year old child in her home, a mile south of Prescott, Iowa, Thursday, was captured this morning in Villisca. Dooley was tracked to the depot and arrested while in the act of writing a telegram. The revolver with which the murder was committed was found in his overcoat pocket. Dooley was quietly placed in a box-car of a passing freight train and brought to Cornelia Jail. He persistently declined having anything to do with the murder until noon, when he broke down and confessed his guilt. He says he quarreled with Mrs. Coon, struck her on the head with a peck, falling her to the floor. He denied raising her, but the position of the body and clothing contradicts this. He says the little girl ran in and he struck her to the floor with the pecked stick and then he fled. The evidence goes to show, however, that he killed the girl after she escaped from the house, as a pool of blood on the outside of the house and a bullet hole inside of the house indicates.

About 3 o'clock the sheriff took Dooley from the jail to the depot, intending to transport him to some western town. The train was two hours late, and before it arrived the depot was surrounded by a mob of a thousand who threatened to hang Dooley. Several deputies were sworn in and Dooley was safely placed on the train for Council Bluffs.

Attempted Train Robbery.
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 13.—The passenger arriving this morning on the international train report it fired upon by robbers just as it was about to stop for water at the tank near Temple. The engineer

We are Particularly Fortunate in Being Able

To offer not only seasonable goods, but a very complete line of seasonable goods at very low prices. It is useless for anyone to attempt to disguise the more than ever prevalent desire to buy close. The "hard times" one hears of constantly are not confined to any particular locality, but are universal. Luxuries are not included in purchases so frequently now—such for instance as ice cream freezers—but the gasoline stove, combining luxury and necessity,--such as the incomparable "Quick Meal" are sought often by the masses. All of these things that one has to have--including the garden tools, lawn mowers, and house cleaning apparatus, carpet sweepers and carpet stretchers, refrigerators, granite ware, tinware, hose, etc., etc.--we are fortunately able to offer inducements, not only in the make of the goods, but in THE PRICES. Many of them are what is left of the "King & Yankee" BANKRUPT SALE. We will have something to tell you in a day or so concerning a new lawn sprinkler.

E. C. COFFIN HARDWARE COMPANY,

COUNTING THE SHEEP.

A Government Special Agent is Looking Over the Flock.

Uncle Sam has all of a sudden taken a sheep and lamblike interest in Utah nation, and has dispatched H. E. Heath, editor of the Nebraska Farmer, at Lincoln, Neb., as the special agent of the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, to take the census of our nation.

The special mission of Mr. Heath, at this particular time, is to enumerate the millions in the territory of Utah and calculate the amount and fitness of the annual wool clip and to report the same in time to be used as political and economical statistics at the Republican national convention to meet at Milwaukee. At least this seems to be the urgency of turning in his report "not later than June 15."

Mr. Heath is said to be one of a dozen other granger editors of agricultural papers in the doubtful states, who have been given the governmental apportion to fill up on mutton broth preparatory to the next Presidential campaign.

"Feeling lambs" is the watchword of the bureau of animal industry, and this department is in touch with the re-election of Benjamin Harrison on the wool protection plan.

Mr. Heath when asked how long it would take him to enumerate the sheep in Utah, said: "Three weeks." He also informed the Nebraska representatives (in advance) that he expected to find 2,000,000 sheep in Utah, although the territorial statistics fall short of that several hundred thousand head. But Mr. Heath is here for mutton and he will find sheep where other people could not scrape up cays.

Even Nebraska, has been discovered by this government agent to be a sheep "feeding" country, and that while she has no ranges and does not yield lambs, from 600,000 to 800,000 sheep are fed there every year. They are driven from the Utah and Wyoming ranges, and in fall, fattened on Nebraska corn for the Chicago or rather "Milwaukee" (political) market.

Mr. Heath's headquarters are at the Cullen hotel, and several persons having sheep to enumerate will send in the number of head they own, and a large count is wanted and it is promised that no taxes will be levied based on this enumeration.

RE-NAME THE STREETS.

Will It Be Brigham Avenue, or Plain Brigham Street?

How shall the streets be named? Some of the Brigham street gentlemen are not pleased that their fine avenue should be vulgarly called "street."

There are also a great many people whose names are too thick to distinguish any difference between Brigham East South Third, and South Third East.

The use of the name has been made more difficult by breaking the key to the system in changing East Temple to Main street, and First East to State street.

The chief of the police appointed the following as a committee to act with similar committees from the city council to confer with the board of public works to consider the renaming of a number of public streets: Jno. W. Donnellan, S. W. Sears, Heber M. Wells, E. B. Wickes, W. E. Hubbard.

The invitation reads: "To consider and determine what changes, if any, are necessary or desirable, and that they may be made in the near future, and prior to ordering street signs."

C. L. HALL, chairman of the board of public works, favors beginning to number the streets from the north and south ends of "avenues" and the north and south ends of "streets."

The will no doubt be any number of plans out of the mud.
